Micro Technologies slashes security product prices

Analyzing the current market scenario and the urge for electronic security systems, Micro Technologies slashed its prices by announcing price cuts up to 30 percent across its varied range of security products. This is one of the strategic approaches initiated by Micro Technologies to stimulate the market. Micro Technologies would also come up with combo pack offers at a cost effective price. Micro Technologies commenced this significant step after in-depth survey and renegotiation with various suppliers. The new attractive price range will offer better densities to maximize sales and spread its presence in both National and Global Market.
